

Webinar

The Plants, the Plates & the Public – alternative proteins and plant based meal strategies for the public.

Program:

9:30 - 9:45. Will the public plate be able solve all our sustainable food systems challenges?
Introduction to the webinar. Bent Egberg Mikkelsen, Professor; Urban Food Systems Transformation

9:45 - 10:05. Can the public plate take the lead in transforming the food system to a more plant based one? Luana Swensson, Policy and legal specialist for sustainable public procurement at FAO Headquarters, Rome

10:05 – 10:20. Plants – what Plants? A closer technological look at how a transition to protein crops can take place. Kristian Holst Laursen, Assoc Prof. Department of Plant and Environmental Sciences, UCPH

10:20 – 10:35 A local community Living Lab for public plant based strategies? – the Bornholm food systems protein crop strategy case. Jens Brandt. Board Member Food Bornholm

10:35 – 10:45 Break

10:45 – 11:00 Rethinking public kitchen lay-outs for a plant based future – a design perspective. Bjarne Silberbauer. Public Meal Strategist. Municipality of Copenhagen

11:00 – 11:15 Plant based strategies in public kitchens – is that what the consumer really wants? Rune-Christoffer Dragsdahl, Secretary-General at Vegetarian Society of Denmark

11:15 – 11:30 Potential Reduction of Climate Impact from a Plant Based Public Plate. Michael Søgård Jørgensen, Assoc. Professor, Aalborg University

11:30 – 11:55 Round table & discussion Moderated by Henrik Søndergaard and Betina Bergman Madsen

11:55 – 12:00 Closure & next steps

Chair: Henrik Søndergaard; Lund University, Innovation & Collaboration Lead at Department of Food Technology, Engineering and Nutrition, Betina Bergman Madsen, Special consultant in innovative sustainable public food procurement, Municipality of Copenhagen

